50 FEET OF FILM FOR SCHOOL NAME

MUST BE REPRESENTED IN OCT. 11 PARADE.

HIGH SCHOOL STUNTS

A Place to Register for Percentage—Committee Meeting Tomorrow.

If your school has a name like Unity, Champaign, Lone Elm, Scrub Oak, Morning View, Rose Hill, Maple Grove or something of that nature you have a chance of getting fifty feet of motion pictures taken of it, to be placed on the Nodaway County agricultural films of the Chamber of Commerce. Ralph Marcell of the Marcell Studio is advertising today that he will take fifty feet of film free of charge for the school that has the best representation of its name in the parade October 11. The films are to be taken at the school and will be of the children and the school.

The stunts by the high schools of the county are going to be an interesting feature the evening of October 11, and from the indications so far many of them if not all will have a stunt of some kind to contribute to the evening's fun. Clearmont High School is working out a stunt now and Pickering people have already sent word they have theirs planned and will be ready that night.

Glendale school, Paul Smith, teacher, received word from the parents of the district to "go to it, we will help you," and think this is a fine plan.

One community hold their meetings each Wednesday and October 11 is the regular meeting night, so it was decided to have the community meeting on Tuesday, so there would be nothing in the road the next day.

Morgan school, Elizabeth Shamburger, teacher, is one of the most enthusiastic districts in the county for Nodaway County School Day. They are doing their work in secrecy, but with enthusiasm.

Word has been received from Lasher school, Lola O'Day, teacher, to look out for them as every patron in the district is enthusiastic about Nodaway County School Day.

One district has a wagon to put the float on, but no team, so will bring float wagon in behind an automobile.

Garrett school, Mrs. C. T. Partch teacher, is going to bring a float and the patrons are all going to get together next Saturday and get the float ready for Wednesday, October 11.

There has been some inquiry regarding the prize for percentage in attendance. Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, said this morning that there would be a place at which the individual schools will register the number they have present.

A meeting of the general committee will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters for the purpose of making further plans and arrangements.

Several men from the Myrtle Tree district were in Maryville this morning to see about fixing the district float.

FOUR BOOZE CASES IN POLICE COURT

LAVOYD PAGE GETS 90 DAYS IN JAIL

CONKLIN AND HELM

Were Arrested on Liquor Charges After a Chase by Police—Plead Not Guilty

The city hall was an unusually busy place for a time this morning when police court was held as the result of some week-end arrests by the police.

Lavoyd Page, negro, was sentenced to ninety days in the city jail in police court this morning by Mayor F. P. Robinson for the unlawful manufacture of intoxicating beverages. His brother, Everett Page, was fined $20 and costs, totaling $26.55 for being drunk.

The cases of James Conklin, Jr., charged with the transportation of intoxicating beverages, and of Guy Helm, charged with the possession of intoxicants, were set to come later, since both men pleaded not guilty. Conklin's case was set for tomorrow and Helm's for Thursday, October 12. Bond for both men was fixed at $1,000.

Conklin furnished $1,000 cash bond and George Eisman went on Helm's bond.

Conklin and Helm were arrested by Mr. Robinson and Ed Wallace last night after the officers had trailed them for some time. When called upon to halt the men did not stop and "arm of the law" gave chase. It was necessary to fire several shots before Conklin and Helm were arrested.

The case of the Page brothers was amusing. Lavoyd Page made the statement that he was not aware that he was manufacturing intoxicating liquor and that he was a good boy and that this was his first offense and consequently he should be dealt with leniently. When the Mayor pronounced his sentence Page begged that he be fined instead. He said that he had a job that he didn't want to lose and that he supported his aged mother and young nephew. The mayor took the cases under advisement.

Everett Page plead guilty to being drunk but stated that he did not know that he was partaking of an intoxicant when he drank the liquor. Mayor Robinson questioned him closely and asked him, "Everett, how does it happen that you haven't been arrested for speeding or reckless driving?" to which the negro replied, "I knows my eggs on drivin'".

Between 10 and 11 o'clock Saturday night Mayor Robinson and Ed Wallace raided the Page home on North Buchanan street. In the back of the lot there is an old house and it was on the porch of the house that the "hooch" was found.

Mayor Robinson said that he asked what the stuff was and that a young, talkative negro who was standing by remarked, "Boy, dats peacock."

A negro girl was with the Page brothers but she was sober and was not arrested.

LOCAL PEOPLE WANT BIBLE READ IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

709 Sign Petitions Yesterday to be Sent to M. E. Ford and Fred Hull.

About 700 people signed petitions yesterday to be sent to M. E. Ford and Fred Hull, delegates at the constitutional convention, asking the convention to adopt a provision giving the privilege of reading the Bible in the schools.

When the matter was up before a committee of the convention recently the vote was evenly divided on the reading of the Bible in the public schools. It is understood this provision will come up again at the convention this week, coming in the report of the Committee on Education, through an addition to section 2 of that report. The section as revised will read:

"Neither this state nor any political subdivision thereof shall ever give any financial assistance to any religious sect or to any sectarian institution. However, this shall not be construed to prohibit the reading of any version of the Holy Scriptures in the public schools of the state."

The attorney general recently ruled that it is now a violation of law to read the Bible in the public schools.

470-LB. GAIN FOR BERG'S CLUB CALF

THE COST WAS 9½ CENTS—THE KINDS OF FEED

MAX WRAY'S 480 POUNDS

Hopkins Boy Tells of Why He Is a Club Members and How He Cared For Animal

The Angus calf of Maurice Berg, which took first place in the calf club show held in Maryville Saturday morning, gained 470 pounds in six months, or in the neighborhood of 2.7 pounds a day. The calf weighed 720 pounds April 1 and Saturday it weighed, 1,190. The ration was that of shelled corn twelve parts, oats seven parts and molassas feed two parts. During the first month the calf was fed on timoty hay and kept up all the time. From that time on it was on pasture at night. The expense a pound of fattening the calf was 9½ cents.

The Shorthorn calf of Max Wray of Hopkins, that took second place in the show, made even a greater gain than that of Maurice Berg. It weighed 580 pounds at the beginning of the period, April 1, and at the close it weighed 1,060 pounds, making a total gain of 480 pounds. Max fed his calf shelled corn, ground corn, oats straw, alfalfa hay and had clover and blue grass pasture.

Max Wray wrote in the space on the blanks, in which the boys and girls were supposed to write in an account of their experience in feeding their calf, the following story.

"I am a calf club member because I wanted to see how good a calf I could fatten and because I wanted the money. We raised my calf from a shorthorn cow.

"I named my calf "Rose" because she is just the color of some roses.

"I selected a shorthorn calf because I thought the shorthorn cattle were the best kind of a calf for selling and fattening purposes.

"My calf drank a lot of water night and morning but didn't drink much through the heat of the day.

"I fed my calf grain at morning and at night and alfalfa at noon. At night I turned her out on the grass except the last month. When I kept her in I gave her hay.

"My calf got gentle pretty fast. She liked to be washed and curried. We fed another calf at the same time and they would push each other away to be curried first. The show men visited me and told me how to take care of my calf.

"I am planning on getting a better calf next year and taking care of it better."

A number of the other calves made remarkable gains and there are some other good stories regarding the feeding of the calves. But it is not possible to secure further data today owing to the fact that Roy A. Kinnaird, county agent, who has charge of the records, is in St. Joseph attending the calf club show, to which the calves from here were shipped. The calves at St. Joseph will be judged tomorrow and sold Wednesday.

Even the bees are speeding up and the 1922 crop of honey bids fair to break all records. To make one pound of honey, bees have to carry 37,000 loads of nectar from the flowers to the hive. After all their patient work and preparation, the finished product vanishes down the human throat in a moment. And such is life. Nine tenths preparation and one tenth realization. People use the expression "busy as a bee" without realizing how busy the little bee really is. What do you reckon man could accomplish if he was really as busy as a bee for a while?

It is going to be hard to pay the soldier bonus and the tariff too.

MISSOURI AUTOMOBILE CLUB BOOSTING AMENDMENT 3

Should It Fail to Pass Voters of State Might Suffer Undesirable Circumstances.

The Automobile Club of Missouri has determined on an intensive campaign to acquaint the voters of the state with the necessity of voting affirmatively on Amendment No. 3 which will be on the ballot in the November elections.

This amendment merely provides that moneys obtained from automobile license fees may be used for the maintenance of roads as well as for paying the interest an dtaking care of the sinking fund of the recently approved $60,000,000 highway bond issue. It provides for no additional taxation and no raise in the motor vehicle license fees and as a matter of fact does nothng more than give the State Highway Commission an authority legally that virtually every voter in the state has assumed that it had actually.

According to the Highway Commission the passage of Amendment No. 3 wil limmediately make available for the maintenance of roads $1,000,000 annually from the present license fees and a patrol system on the highways will be instituted just as soon as the assembly validates the purpose of the amendment by formal legislation.

As a matter of fact should the amendment be defeated the tax-payers of the state may find themselves under the necessity of assuming additional direct taxation for the upkeep of the roads built under the $60,000,000 bond issue and such other roads of the state that must be maintained.

As far as is known there is no opposition to Amendment No. 3 but there is a danger that it may be voted down inadvertedly by those unfamiliar with its provisions and purposes. In the November ballot there are three constitutional amendments, fifteen referendum and two initiative propositions to be voted on. Many of them, of course, will draw negative votes and for fear that the dislike for a few of the proposals may result in the killing of all of them—Missourians are familiar with the habit of some folks of votin "No" all the way down the line when the proposition displeases them—the Automobile Club of Missouri has undertaken through its various divisions out in the state to wage an educational campaign in behalf of Amendment No. 3. Wind-shield stickers, literature and speakers will be used in explaining the purposes of the amendment and arousing the interest of the voters of the state to the point where Amendment No. 3 will receive particular and affirmative attention in November.

Fifty Years Ago

(From the files of the Nodaway Democrat October 3, 1872).

J. & A. M. Howendobler have established themselves in the store room one door north of Ben Torrance's where their nice stock of goods will appear to good advantage.

By reference to another part of our paper, it will be seen that Mr. Markwell has gone into the grocery business and proposes to sell as cheap as the cheapest.

The grocery house of J. E. Alexander & Co. never carried a better stock than at present.

Among the finest hogs entered to the fair up to Tuesday evening we noticed those of C. W. Hardesty.

If anybody thinks that there is doubt about the success of the Nodaway County fair, the best thing to be done is to go down to the fair grounds and take a look at the hogs and cattle entered for the premiums.

We have in our office a sample of leaf tobacco raised in Nodaway County by Mr. Thos. S. Moreham. It is a nice large bright leaf, and will compare favorably with the "weed" from the tobacco regions of Virginia or North Carolina. Mr. Moreman informs us that he raised some 4,000 pounds the present season.

Thomas H. Parish, the Democrat Liberal candidate for state senator from this district, is circulating among his friends in Nodaway.

Following is the report for the public schools for the month ending September 27, 1872:

Total number of students enrolled 276

Average attendance 205

Twenty Years Ago.

The Democrat goes to press early this week. Tuesday evening instead of Thursday afternoon, its usual time, on account of the Street Fair in progress. Monday was a rainy and gloomy day and not at all promising for the success of the fair. Friday will be farmer's day. The fine range offered by Shoptaugh & Bucker to the couple who would first give them notice that they would be married in booth in front of their hardware store, will go to a Quitman couple. The wedding will occur between three and four congrebation, Rev. Father Anselm, Thursday afternoon.

Both Revs. Fathers of St Mary's O. S. B., and Rev. Father John, O. S. B., were to celebrate their Silver Jubilee of Priesthood, September 29, which, on account of the street fair, was postponed. The members of the congregation have prepared an entertainment for the Rev. Fathers and their friends, which will be given next Tuesday evening in basement hall of St. Mary's church. The main celebration will be October 8 in St. Mary's church.

Senator F. M. Cockrell filed his appointment here Tuesday, and made an able speech to a good crowd. He was introduced by County Chairman T. A. Cummins.

J. H. Harvey, who will have a public sale at his place east of Pickering October 6, has bought the Edmonston place in the northeast part of Maryville, and will move here early in December.

KING BRINGS IN HUGE APPLES —THROUGH SOWING WHEAT

A. T. King, who lives five miles east of Pickering, came down to Maryville this morning to bring his sons, John, who is a student in the State Teachers College, and Carl, who is a student in the Maryville High School. He brought with him some of the biggest, finest Wolf River apples that Maryville has seen this year. He brought a couple of dozen of them around to the Democrat-Forum office and they made a pretty good load for one man to carry. Mr. King says that there was formerly a good-sized orchard on his farm but that considerable of it has died out. He says, however, that what trees there are left bore heavily this year.

Mr. King says that sowing wheat is the order of the day in his neighborhood now. He began drilling his crop a week ago last Saturday and finished Thursday. The first sowing is up and looking green over the field. He sowed thirty-two acres.

Mrs. Alderman Leaves.

Mrs. Merrill Alderman, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Lyle, left last night for St. Louis where she will spend a few days before returning to her home in Marshall.

The Cash Value of Tractor Power

"TIME is the essence in good farming", writes Frank I. Mann, one of the most successful farmers in the United States. "To judge the value of a tractor on the farm it must be considered in relation to its ability to do farm work at the time to give most profitable return from the crops grown."

Mr. Mann goes on to show that farm work is subject to continual delays from adverse weather conditions, and the one great advantage of the tractor is in enabling the farmer to handle peak loads on time.

In one case cited, tractor power enabled the farmer to sow a good acreage of spring wheat on March 23, which early seeding gave him a return of 44 bushels per acre, thus illustrating the cash value of tractor power.

A tractor to do its work must have petroleum products.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) takes great pride in the fact that its organization is able to supply the needs of these tractors in 10 Middle Western states with petroleum products of superior quality.

No matter how unexpectedly the farmer's peak load may arrive, he will find that this Company has ever ready at his call such gasoline, kerosene and lubricants as he may need.

Owing to the isolation of many farmers and farming districts, this task of supplying petroleum products at dependable intervals is a big and often an exceedingly difficult one.

Nevertheless, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), inspired by its obligation to the community, has always met rural needs for petroleum in a big way. The Company constantly is extending its operations to provide facilities which under all conditions enable it to meet the demands made upon it, and to guarantee a reliable and sustained service even in periods of stress.

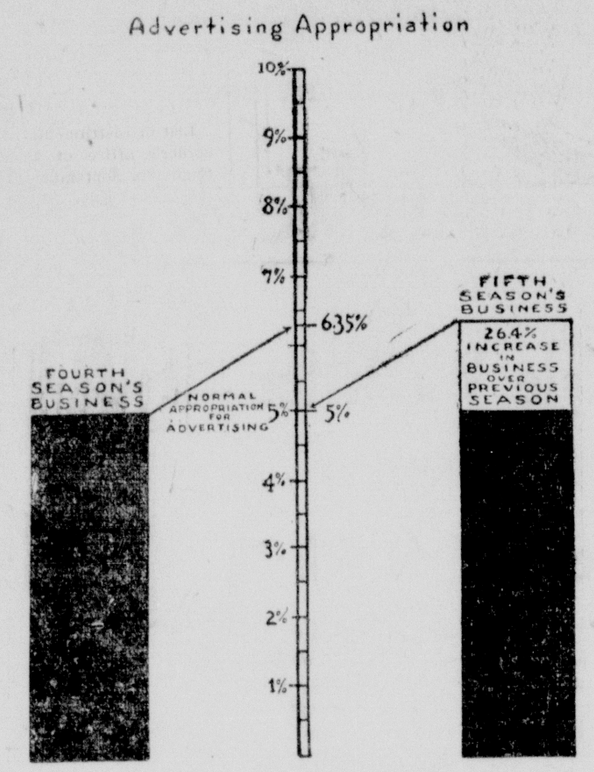
Concrete Evidence of What Advertising

Net profits paralleled the advertising of a business house, increasing as the advertising appropriation mounted and diminishing as it dropped below normal, a barometer of this firms business.

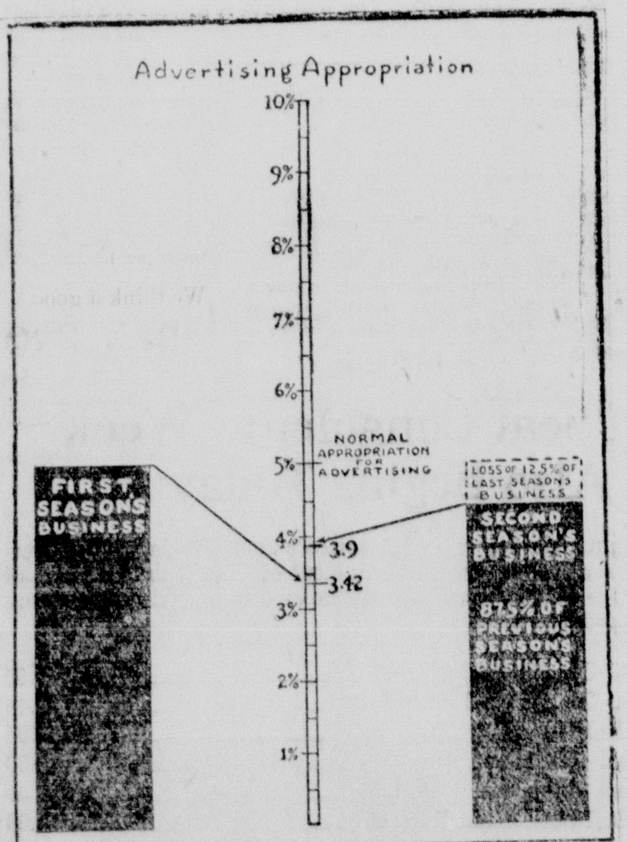
Advertising is a curious thing. It has had to be taken on faith for the most part. You can't usually measure its effect. Men who advertise and find their business prospering keep on advertising. Men whose business has been slow sometimes try advertising and find suddenly that their business is growing. Then they keep on advertising.



They learned their lesson. This season they went even farther than the 5% we usually recommend and appropriated 6.35% for advertising.

Their business increased to such an extent that their advertising appropriation turned out to be only 5% of their current season's sales after all.

That's the reason you can't measure its results. If men started advertising and stopped, and started and stopped often enough, you might be able to measure the results in their business. Of course, to do that would almost invariably ruin the effectiveness of the advertising. As it is, advertising has to be adopted on principle and stuck to because of one's confidence in its soundness, and its general results.



They planned to "save" money and only spend an amount equal to 3.42% for advertising instead of 5%.

They lost so much business that an advertising appropriation of 3.42% of last season's sale is now equal to an advertising expense of 3.9% of this season's business.

The tremendous growth of advertising in spite of the fact that you couldn't separate its effects from the effects of all the other forces that make for business, is perhaps a greater tribute to its power than it would be if exact measurement were possible.

Men are not ordinarily willing to place such great faith and pay such huge sums of money for an agency whose effect they cannot isolate and measure. When they do it means that it doesn't need to be measured to be believed in.

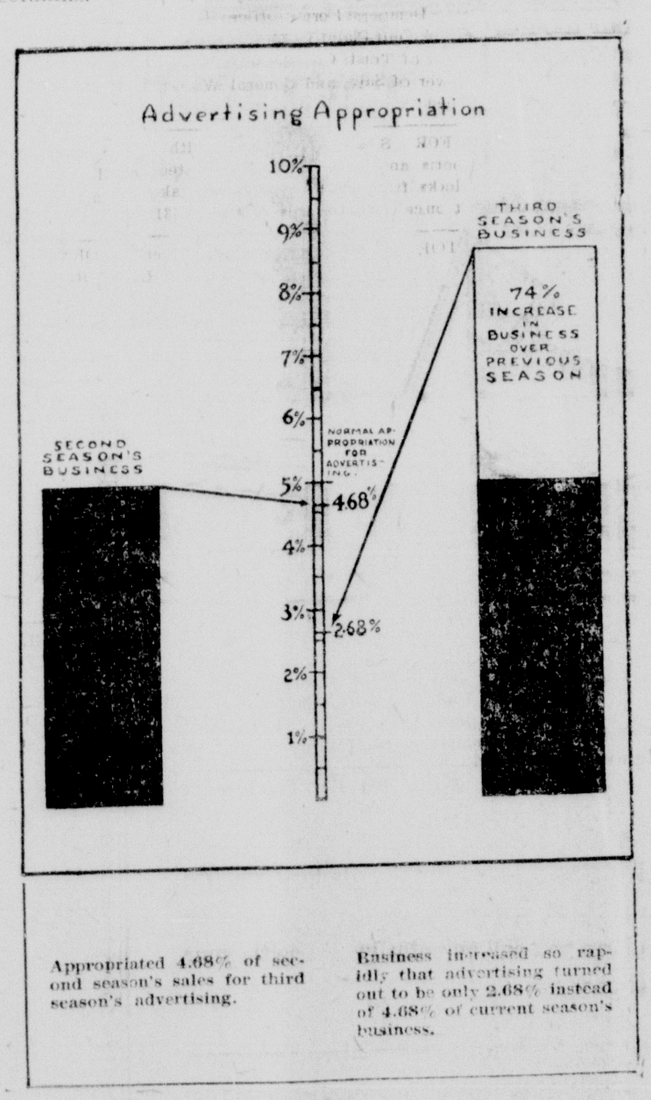
It's particularly gratifying, however, when you've been acting for a long time upon principles that you've believed in to run across a demonstration that proves how right you've been.

That's why we're so pleased with an illustration which we've just come across in going over the figures of one of our customers. Of course, there have been other factors involved in their varying fortunes, but the way in which their prosperity paralleled their advertising appropriation is too remarkable to be overlooked. The only thing we're sorry about is that the firm whose figures we give herewith can't go back several years and change their policy so that they'd be as far along now as they might have been.

It cost them something in the way of possible volume and profits to learn their lesson and be convinced.

While they might have learned it hard, we don't think you'll shake their faith easily. The figures for the last five years offer such a lesson and warning that we're going to let you have them.

You will find them diagramed in the accompanying columns.



Appropriated 4.68% of second season's sales for third season's advertising.

Business increased so rapidly that advertising turned out to be only 2.68% instead of 4.68% of current season's business.

The great point about advertising is that the seed you plant this year keeps bearing next year, and the year after and as long as you keep planting fresh seed. But you must not expect your business to show as quick a response as this business did. The best advertising doesn't try directly to sell goods. It tries to create faith and confidence in you and the goods you sell. And, of course, the advertising isn't worth anything unless your merchandise and your service make good on the impression which the advertising creates.

Otherwise, it is like food which looks attractive, but doesn't do any good. All you get out of it, and all the people who try it once get out of it, is the memory of a disappointment.

The interesting thing to you and to us and the public is the effect of this advertising upon the prices of clothes and the valume of business and the merchant's profits.

Here are the figures for this firm for 1918 and 1919:

	1st Half 1918	2nd Half 1918	1919
Percentage of advertising appropriation to sales of previous period	2.40	6.35	9.46
Percentage of sales of current period to sales of previous period	63.78	125.40	197.80
Percentage of advertising expenditure of current period to sales of current period	3.77	5.00	4.78
Gross Profit	41.40	38.60	37.79
Net Profit	4.81	8.24	11.02

This means that for every $10,000 worth of business they did in the last half of 1917 they spent $249 on advertising in the first half of 1918. The business dropped off, Evidently thought the business growing so fast, didn't bother about advertising. Only appropriated 2.4% of previous season's business and "saved" the rest.

Lost so much business that advertising appropriation turned out to be 3.77% of current season, as against 2.4% of last.

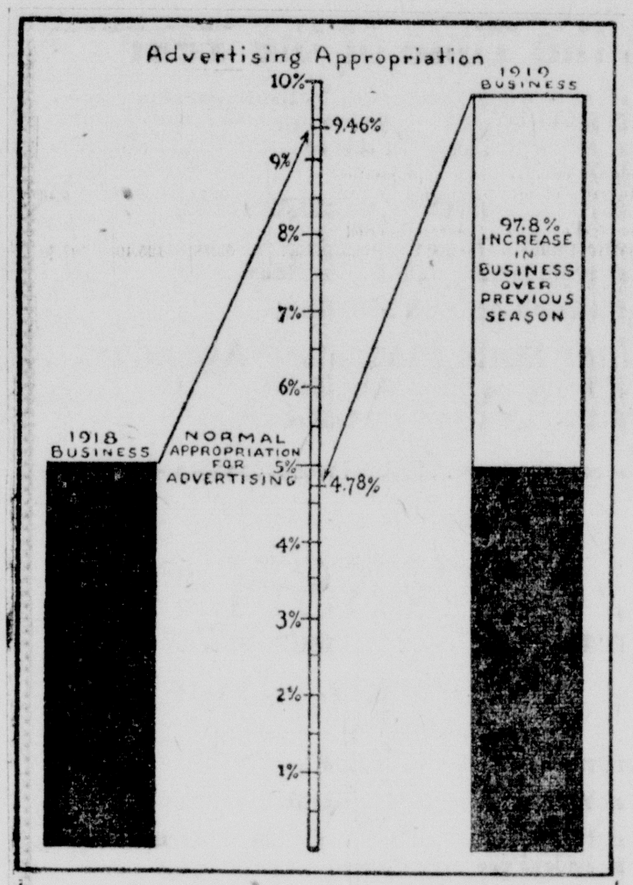
so they only did $6,378 in the first half of 1918 for every $10,000 they had done. The gross profit was high 41.4 per cent, but the net profit was low, only 4.8 per cent.

In the second half of 1918 they saw their mistake and for every $10,000 of business done in the first half of the year they spent $635 on advertising. The business increased so that for every $10,000 they did $12,640 and $635 is 5 per cent of $12,640. Their gross profits dropped to 38.60 per cent and their net profit was increased to 8.24 per cent. In 1919 they went still further in the same direction. For every $10,000 of business done in 1918 they spent $946 on advertising. The business increased so that for every $10,000 of business they did $19,780; $946 is only 4.78 per cent of $19,780. The gross profit shrank still further to 37.7 per cent and the net profits still further increased to 11.02 per cent.

The interesting and instructive thing about their figures is the way in which an attempt to save money by cutting the advertising percentage defeats itself. The business drops so fast when you do insufficient promotion the the percentage of expense soars, due to decreased volume.

Can Accomplish

One of the most remarkable exhibitions of the effectiveness of advertising has been told of in text and portrayed in charts by Hart Schaffner & Marx, in a booklet distributed by that firm. Text and illustrations tell a valuable story so clearly that both are reproduced here.



It's easy to see they feel they've discovered the secret of success. It took a long test to convince them, but now they've gone in hook, line and sinker and appropriated 9.46% of their past year's sales for advertising, almost double the amount we usually recommend.

They're rediscovered that old truth, that you really can't SPEND any money advertising. The increased sales roll in so much faster than one can spend the money on advertising that even by appropriating 9.46% they couldn't get the percentage of advertising expenditure above 5%. The business increased so rapidly that 9.46% of last season's sales only amounted to 4.78% of the current season's.

The real way to decrease your advertising expense is to increase. It'll start your business growing and pretty soon you'll find the advertising expenditures can't keep up with the growth.

The only thing is, you don't usually see the results so quickly. This is simply a striking and unusually illustration of the things that advertising accomplishes.

There's a good deal of similarity between advertising and agriculture. You've got to plant the seed and tend it carefully in order to get the harvest.

The truth is that a decent advertising appropriation is an investment, not an expense. It's the too small advertising appropriations that are the expensive ones, for an advertising appropriation of this kind is about the greatest expense a business can endure.

The thing which every merchant wants to be sure about is that he gets his advertising appropriation into the investment class and keeps it there. Then he'll begin to experience in his business some of the wonders and pleasures of compound interest.

Of course, there undoubtedly were other factors than advertising involved in the figures above, but advertising also unquestionably played its share. Some time usually elapses between the planting and reaping. It's the same with advertising—You've got to start advertising—and keep advertising—if you want to get results, but the harvest is increased sales, and the crops are bumper if you keep on tilling.

Advertising serves both the merchant and the public.

Increased volume is secured through better values and more advertising. It means a lower gross margin for the consumer to pay and more net profit for the merchant.

"BAD LAD" STOLE MA'S FALSE TEETH; JAILED

London, Oct. 2.—If Andy Jackson lived in New York he would be rated as one tough guy. In England he is just a "bad lad."

Andy was in court recently and the police constable who was making charges against him told the judge he was such a "bad lad" that he had stolen his mother's false teeth and sold them.

He's a bad lad is Andy, and the judge gave him several months to think his sins over in a nice little cell.

WILCOX WINS AGAIN FROM MARYVILLE

SCORE IN YESTERDAY'S GAME 2 TO 1

WAS PITCHERS' BATTLE

Runs Made by Tobin and Brennan For Wilcox and by Poirier for Maryville

The Maryville Semi-professional Baseball Club again lost to the Wilcox team yesterday afternoon, this time by the score of 2 to 1. The game was a repetition of a week ago when Wilcox took the Maryville team's measure on the Wilcox diamond. The game yesterday was a pitchers' battle between Kinnan of Wilcox and Poirier for the Maryville team. Poirier allowed but three hits while Kinnan was connected with five times. However, the Wilcox team was stronger in its support and for this reason won the game.

Each pitcher struck out sixteen men The Maryville batters were unable to fathom Kinnan's emery ball and the deliveries of Poirier were baffling to say the least.

The Wilcox runs came in the first and third innings. In the first frame Tom Tobin was struck out but the Maryville catcher dropped the ball, thereby allowing Tobin a chance to beat the ball to first. Speaker, the catcher, made a bad throw to first and Tobin was safe. He then stole second and then third and when Speaker overthrew third in an effort to nab him he scored the first run of the game.

Again in the third inning Brennan of Wilcox walked, stole second and was advanced to third on Leech's double. He scored on a sacrifice out by Egley.

The only Maryville tally was made by Poirier the Maryville moundsman. He went to first after being hit by the opposing pitcher and was advanced to the second sack by Cree. Then on First baseman Tilson's hit he scored.

As far as the scoring went the game ended right there for there were no more runs. However, the fans were treated to a real battle between two pitchers for the remaining six innings. Occosionally a batter would pop a weak one up but in the main it was a case of three or four batters facing the pitcher and then going back to the bench.

The game was umpired by Fred Newlon of Maryville and Knuckles of Corning, Ia., who alternated behind the catcher. The officiating in the game was good and several close decisions were called as they should have been.

In the ninth inning the score 2 to 1 against them and with two men out and two strikes on him Lauder, the Maryville left fielder, nearly broke up the ball game when he hit the third delivery of Pitcher Kinnan. The ball started up and out toward center field. But it was going too high instead of far enough and Egley, the Wilcox center-fielder speared it after it had bounced once. Had it not been for this clever catch the ball would have bounded on into the corn field and Lauder could have made a circuit of the bases and tied the score. As it was he had to be satisfied with a two bagger and Scott, the next man up, fell victim to Kinnan and the game was over.

The line-ups were as follows: Maryville—Cree, 2b; Tilson, 1b; Black, cf; Speaker, c; Sigler, 3b; Wright, rf; Lauder, lf; Scott, ss; Poirier, p.

Wilcox—Leech, ss; Egley, cf; Tobin, c; Phillips, rf; Jones, 3b; Kinnan, p; Tobin, 2b; Booth, lf; Brennan, lb.

TO INTRODUCE NEW SONG AT STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

And There Is Opportunity for Some Aspirant to Become Famous by Writing Another Verse

A new school song will be introduced at the State Teachers College Wednesday morning at the regular weekly assembly of the student body by Charles R. Gardner, head of the Conservatory of Music. The name of this song is "Alma Mater," it is a song that is sung by many of the leading colleges and universities of the country. There are three verses to the song and another will be used if someone will write it. This verse will have to pertain to the State Teachers College.

The first three verses of the song follow:

Let our voices loudly ringing,
Echoe far and near,
Songs of praise thy children singing
To thy memory dear.

All the days we've been together
Fondly we recall.
Days of fair and stormy weather
Thou has gladden'd all.

Years may dim our recollection,
Time its change may bring,
Still thy name in fond affection
Evermore we sing.

Chorus

Alma Mater, Alma Mater,
Tender, fair and true,
Grateful sons with love unfailing,
All their vows renew.

It is the policy of Mr. Gardner to introduce some new song to the student body each week. Heretofore all the songs that have been sung at the College assemblies have either been folk or national songs. However, Mr. Gardner is giving art songs to the student body and he says that they are being handled well.

THE TEXT OF THE PROCLAMATION FOLLOWS:

"It has become a nation-wide custom to observe October 9, anniversary of the great Chicago fire of 1871, as National Fire Prevention Day; and in recognition of this excellent precedent, I am herewith directing the attention of all citizens, especially those in authority in the state and cities, to the desirability of continuing the observance this year and making it as impressive as possible. It has long been a reproach to our country that by reason of poor construction, inadequate facilities for fire prevention and an all too general carelessness about possible causes of conflagration, our fire waste reaches figures year after year, which are not approached in any other country in the world. Mindful of the fire waste, which is expressed in figures so huge as to be appalling, it may be emphasized that in time when all communities need to conserve resources in hand and to promote production in every possible way, there ought to be special effort to minimize such losses.

"Therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States, appeal to the public authorities of the country, by such measures as to them may seem effective, and to citizens generally, to take steps for the observance of Monday, October 9, as Fire Prevention Day. I suggest the special desirability of impressing upon the teachers and pupils in the schools and all workers in industrial establishments the importance of precautionary measures for avoidance of fires. By such measure, earnestly undertaken and vigorously endorsed, we shall contribute to a vast economy of the national resources and of the product of human effort, as well as to a saving of many hundreds of human lives now needlessly sacrificed.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done in the City of Washington, this sixteenth day of September, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and twenty-two, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-seventh.

"(Signed)"

"WARREN G. HARDING."

PROGRAM FOR THE WEEK SUGGESTED:

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States at the same time announced that local commercial bodies throughout the United States will take the lead in observance of fire prevention week from October 2 to 9. The chamber, it was added, has placed before business associations a suggested program for the week and in a statement said:

"Property valued at about $7,869,000,000 was destroyed by fire in the United States during the 40 years ending with 1921. The loss during the last year of this period was approximately six times as great as that of the first year. In 1921, more than 15,000 lives were lost and property valued at half a billion dollars was destroyed by fire. This was simply the total of many separate fire losses and was not the result of any great conflagration.

"During the first seven months of the current year, property valued at $230,000,000,000 was added to the nation's ashheap."

National Fire Prevention Day Proclamation

of President Harding

President Harding issued a Proclamation designating Monday, October 9, as National Fire Prevention Day. The fire waste in the United States year after year, the President declared, reaches appalling figures which are not approached in any other country. There ought to be especial effort, he added, to minimize such losses.

To create a more general interest in the Fire Prevention Movement, the following firms have paid for this space, and have pledged themselves to co-operate in every way possible to help eliminate the great fire disasters:

This Is the Time of the Year

That has been set aside a day, October 9th, by the National Government as FIRE PREVENTION DAY. We are urged to be as careful as we can with Fire, as our fire losses in this country of ours runs in the sum of $500,000,000.00.

90 PER CENT IS CAUSED BY CARELESSNESS!
